

Jaruco, the highly anticipated 90-footer from Jarrett Bay Boatworks, made her tournament debut in early 2018.

THE BOATBUILDING INDUSTRY is as strong as ever, and while new builds continue to grow ever larger in size, boats in the 60-foot range also remain very popular — we highlight eight new models from 60 to 70 feet in this year's lineup.

ON THE HORIZON: NEW BOATS FOR 2018

---

THE NEW BREED OF SPORT-FISHERS
IS PERHAPS THE BEST YET

By
SAM WHITE

Express and walkaround designs are also attractive options, especially for owner/operators who fish with family or friends on a regular basis. So whether you prefer a 90-foot battlewagon or a 45-foot express, there is a boat for you coming soon.

JARRETT BAY BOATWORKS 67

Privateer is one of the most exceptional boats in our lineup, with a design that combines throwback styling with modern construction materials and techniques, courtesy of North Carolina's Jarrett Bay Boatworks. The extended-trunk cabin will offer a roomy, luxurious interior layout with helm station, while the 195-square-foot cockpit will highlight the boat's strong fishing pedigree. Privateer is expected to hit the water in late 2018.

LOA: 67'3" BEAM: 18'8" DRAFT: 4'10" DISPLACEMENT: 70,000 lb.
FUEL: 1,400 gal. WATER: 200 gal. POWER: Twin 1,135 hp Caterpillar C18A

RITCHIE HOWELL YACHTS 61

With her Alexseal metallic paint and near-40-knot top end, Ritchie Howell's newest design will be a head-turner wherever she fishes. A Pipewelders top, Seakeeper gyro-stabilizer and full Garmin electronics package ups the ante, and the highly engineered variable deadrise bottom could make her one of the best-riding new boats of the year.

LOA: 61'8" BEAM: 18' DRAFT: 4' DISPLACEMENT: 63,000 lb.
FUEL: 1,400 gal. WATER: 300 gal. POWER: Twin 1,150 hp Caterpillar C18A