The owner of Hull #65 has had a change of plans, making a coveted Jarrett Bay construction slot now available! The Jarrett Bay 64' has steadily become a signature length range for our custom fleet, and Hull #65's plans were drafted to mirror the proven specifications of the tournament-winning Hull #59 "Builder's Choice."

At Hull #65's stage of construction, a new owner has the option to either follow Hull #59's layout, systems and appointments to expedite the decision-making process, or work with Jarrett Bay's engineers to select options that are tailored to their unique fishing style.

Purchasing this in-progress hull not only shaves eight months off of an anticipated twenty-eight month build process, it also provides the new owner with significant materials & construction costs savings due to price increases since this hull was started.

Jarrett Bay estimates it will take up to two years before it can start another one-of-a-kind custom build due to five other Jarrett Bays currently under construction or waiting to start. Stepping into Hull #65 puts you at the head of the line on the construction floor destined for fishing experiences like no other offshore.
